“The call to every disciple... is to follow Christ.... The place of the Scriptures...in the Christian life is not optional, though there are many different ways of approaching them. The word of God is as life and breath to Christian Believers, and as such is a sine qua non (an essential condition or absolute prerequisite) of the Christian life.” (Hoare, L. Using the Bible in Spiritual Direction. Morehouse Publishing. 2015. P. xii.)

For many of us Christians, the Bible is a book we know we should be reading, but it can be tough to get into. Another challenge is figuring out how to read it so we understand it well or use it correctly. Some people read it just because they think they should, while others read it to lift their spirits or get advice. Is that all there is to reading the Bible?

As the quote above suggests, there are many of ways to read the Bible, and some are more helpful than others. In part two of the Your Bible and You Series, we’re going to dive into some of the true value the Bible offers. We’ll explore the various types of books and genres it contains. You’ll discover some fresh ways of reading the Bible that you might not have considered before. We’ll also dedicate some time each class to “practicing” these reading methods. I hope you’ll find a new perspective on how God communicates with you through its pages.

By the end of this class, I hope you’ll develop a renewed appreciation for the Bible and a stronger desire to engage with it. I’m also hoping and praying that you’ll grow to know the Divine Author better as you spend time with him in his word.

Some of the topics we will look at include

- ☆ How is the Bible more like a library than a single book?
- ☆ What are the different types of literature in the Bible?
- ☆ Are there different ways of reading the various parts of the Bible?
- ☆ Is there a “best” way to read the Bible?
- ☆ What are some ways I can read the Bible for myself and learn to connect with God (the Author) personally?
- ☆ And others...
